

Job Description - Intern

Tyler Hill Capital (“THC”) provides financial and commercial advisory in infrastructure and energy sectors to sponsors, investors and governments globally. We work with clients on structuring and delivering innovative financing for essential infrastructure. Tyler Hill Capital acts as a sell-side and buy-side advisor on a wide variety of global transactions across the sectors, including renewable power, energy, digital infrastructure, transportation, waste-to-energy, water and wastewater, social infrastructure, power & utilities, oil & gas, and public-private partnerships. Our clients include leading corporates, infrastructure funds, pension funds, contractors, and governments. Team's collective experience and track record includes, advising on 50+ transactions raising $15+ billion in debt and $2+ billion in equity.

The internship position represents an excellent opportunity to get exposure to the fascinating world of infrastructure investment banking and will prepare you well for your full time job. Joining the Mumbai/Nagpur/London office in the role of an intern, you will be required to work closely with investment banking professionals across our global offices. We are looking to incorporate an Intern in our team as soon as possible, although later availability in 2025 could also be considered.

Responsibilities

Your main contribution will be to support THC's team with a global mandate. We will provide you with an initial training that will set you up to succeed. Given our small and growing team, you will get exposure of working directly with our senior bankers and will be provided with responsibilities not typically available to interns at a large bulge bracket investment banks. The position appeals to candidates with hands-on experience, who seek a challenging opportunity. The selected candidate will be expected to assume high levels of responsibility immediately with direct exposure to clients. Your work will directly impact our clients and the firm, which could include:

- Assist the team in preparing client presentations.
- Research potential investment banking opportunities.
- Provide research on target companies, sectors, industries, and geographies.
- Outreach prospective clients on behalf of the firm to originate new opportunities and leads.
- Assist in due diligence processes.

- Collaborate in the screening of market players (Project Developers, Utilities, Corporates, and other stakeholders).
- Participate in introductory calls with clients.
- Prepare market reports.
- Carry out market research.
- Perform financial analysis of projects.
- CRM database management (meeting minutes, counterparties updates).
- Contribute to improving financial models.

Requirements

- Obtained an undergraduate degree from a reputable university.
- 0-12 months of relevant work experience in a corporate development or an M&A advisory role.
- Exceptional academic results (minimum CGPA of 80% or 3.5/4.0).
- Experience working with financial tools and databases including Bloomberg Terminal, S&P Capital IQ, and IJGlobal.
- Ability to concisely communicate complex concepts and ideas verbally and in writing.
- Ability to take initiative and work independently with minimal supervision.
- Ability to learn quickly and adapt in a fast-paced work environment.
- Resilient mindset in the face of adversity.
- Ability to work effectively in a team environment.
